FOR A PRESENT
A HANDSOME SET OF BOOKS.

The Library of American Literature.

The reader may take a comprehensive view of the quantity of written and printed matter produced in this country in the Library of American Literature, in eleven large octavo volumes, covering the period from 1607 to the present day, edited by Edmund Clarence Stedman and Elbert Hubbard. Hutchinson's famous remarks were never more appropriate. The editor thoroughly gleaned the field of prose and history; and it is completed with such skill that it gives not only a fair idea of the thoughts and literature of the period, but also of the agitations, the manners, and the popular life.—CHARLES DUDLEY WARREN, in the United States of America, edited by N. S. Shaler, published November of this year.

For full particulars as to this fine work and the very rare terms of sale, call or send six cents in stamp to handsome pamphlet of specimen pages, which contains portraits which are alone worth 25 cents.

ROBERTS BROTHERS, Boston.

The publishers of Scribner's Magazine have been fortunate in securing three very characteristic poems, for early numbers, by three authors in whose work the public have just now special interest.

"McAndrew's Hymn," by Rudyard Kipling in the Christmas issue, is the most important poem the author has written for years: "A Forgotten Tale," by A. Conan Doyle in January, will be a revelation to all readers who have known the author only through his stories; and in the real West there is a manner of California days "A Question of Privileges"; Repeated by Truthful James, which will be published in February. It is a great addition to the famous "Truthful James Ballads."

Mr. Kipling's and Dr. Doyle's poems are illustrated by Howard Pyle.

Subscriptions for Scribner's Magazine for 1895 should now be $3.00 a year. Charles Scribner's Sons, 153-157 Fifth Avenue, New York.
